NRA Action Pistol

This year marked a good year for NRA Action Pistol at Green Valley. The Bianchi Cup and the NRA World Action Pistol Championships were both held in May at Green Valley. Team USA took the top two places as World Champions. Multi-time World and Bianchi Cup champion, Doug Koenig, was once again crowned World Champion. At the Bianchi Cup, Koenig returned to defend his Cup championship only to be edged out by US Army Marksmanship Unit's SFC Adam Sokolowski by only 4 X's with a score of 1920-176X to Koenig's 1920-172X. Mark Blake of Australia tied Koenig for second place.

In June, Amanda Brown and Sam Williams, co-discipline heads for NRA Action Pistol, put on the yearly Cameron Cup Regional Action Pistol Championship. Returning to the championship this year was title sponsor Graf & Sons, local gun shop and reloading superstore out of Mexico, MO. Among the yearly sponsors were several local and regional businesses and well as the addition of some nation-wide companies. The match hosted approximately 40 shooters, a large group of ROs and range staff, and was a success. Tim Cooper of Kansas City took home the Cameron Cup for high Marksman and Jon Stoehr of Virginia took home the overall win. Green Valley Action Pistol Team member Sam Williams took home the production championship.

The Green Valley Action Pistol Team will be traveling to Wyoming in August for the Wyoming Regional Championship and the Steamboat Challenge (Wyoming State Championship) as well as to Kansas City in October for the Show-Me Cup Regional Championship.
